This is very queer weather for this or any other time of the year. It is freezing cold from five to eight p.m., but after that the atmosphere becomes quite warm, and thick bed clothes become uncomfortable. The days are warm and pleasant.

The Cigarette Cases.

The case of Marcus Fredrick for selling cigarette papers was brought up in the Justice Court this morning. C. A. Jones appeared for the defendant, and argued a demurrer to the complaint, claiming a conflict between the statute under which defendant was arrested and the constitution. He claimed that the title of the act was the restricting and licensing of the sale of cigarettes alone, and for that reason that portion of the act relating to the sale or giving away of cigarette papers, not being expressed in the title, was not constitutional, as shown by the numerous authorities he quoted. His argument will be replied to by District Attorney Currier to-morrow morning.—Gazette.

Ciderite.

A deposit of the metal known as ciderite was discovered in Esmeralda along the line of the Carson & Colorado Railroad at the time that road was being constructed. Although familiar with the usual metallic substances found in this State the discoverer could not classify this one and in order to have it classified he sent it to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, where it was pronounced ciderite. This metal is said to be one of the most important used in the manufacture of Bessemer steel. The deposit in Esmeralda is said to be apparently inexhaustible and if the classification of the metal is correct there is a large fortune in it for the discoverer.—Enterprise.

THE DEAD ALIVE.

Mercedes, Supposed to be Dead, is Alive.

About four years ago, a woman named Mercedes, an old procuress, well known in Carson left this city for Peru.

It was reported that she died on the steamer en route, or was murdered and thrown overboard.

It was known that she had a large sum of money on her person, and foul play was suspected. The fact that she was dead, however, was seemingly well authenticated.

It now turns out that she is alive and well, and living in Ecuador, South America. The news was brought to Carson recently by two men who claim to have seen her and talked with her.

A Brutal Murderer.

Oroville, Dec. 18.—A man named Peters, living at Bangor, in this county, owned a calf, and Brown's dog mangled it. Peters got his gun and killed the dog. Then Brown fired at Peters, but missed him, and Peters returned the fire, but proved a bad marksman.

Peters then went home, and Brown, it alleged, followed him and fired two shots through the window each narrowly missing Mrs. Peters.

The husband had got out of the way, but was met by Brown, who shot and killed him.

The murderer placed the body on a wheelbarrow and took it to the dead man's home, where he dumped it off and shouted, "Here is your man," and went away, leaving the body in front of the house.

Brown has been arrested and will soon be in jail.

Wants to Be Governor.

Omaha, Dec. 19.—Buffalo Bill, known to civilized life as William F. Cody, has determined to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Nebraska. He is now living in North Platte, Nebraska, and is said to have behind his candidacy the whole western part of the State, which has never been represented in the Executive office.

Cody was tendered a banquet when he returned from Chicago a month ago, and at this banquet, it is said, the scheme was unfolded. There is a sharp contest between the different factions, and if Governor Crouse fails to secure a renomination Cody will have excellent chances of success.

Amplestable room has been provided for parties coming by private conveyance and everybody who is not satisfied by the treatment he receives can get his money back.

The above program will be carried out to the letter, weather permitting. d15td,

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea, 25 cents a bottle.

Anybody who thinks there is no money in Carson should watch the cash customers in the Carson stores, purchasing holiday presents.

A POLITICAL PRIMER.

This is a courtroom. It costs $12,000 a year to keep it clean, neat, warm and well ventilated. Nevertheless it is dirty, gloomy, cold and foul smelling.

The large, fat man on the platform is a judge.

He is paid by the month and $17,000 a year.

For this he works four hours a day more or less twenty hours a month eight months of the year.

The rest of the time he goes fishing.

The fat man who talks standing up and talks and talks is a district attorney.

He gets $7500 a year.

He prosecutes wicked criminals and attends to his own business—law business besides.

The fat men in uniform who sit around doing nothing are members of the police force.

They get from $1,200 to $3000 apiece a year for doing it.

They are kept fast so that they can run fast when they chase wicked criminals.

The thin and hungry looking little woman in the monkey cage is a wicked little criminal. She works with her needle sixteen hours a day for $3 a week and is probably an anarchist.

Good people never pay anarchists more than $3 a week.

This wicked criminal doubtless thinks and has said at any rate that starving people ought to steal from the rich people rather than starve.

This is anarchy and is almost as wicked as murder.

The thin, starving woman is, of course, convicted and goes to prison for a year.

What with court room, judge district attorney, police, writing paper and spittoons, it costs $4,279 75 to convict this wicked anarchist who earns $3 a week.

This shows that christian civilization requires half soiling and heel-ing.—Hullo.
